BILTMORE

Spend a day or a week exploring the wonders of Biltmore™. Your first stop: America's largest home®—the 250-room Biltmore House—showcasing the treasures and memories of George and Edith Vanderbilt's home. Step outside to appreciate century-old gardens that are spectacular in every season. Savor award-winning vintages at our winery. Grab a quick bite or relish gourmet cuisine at estate restaurants. Enjoy our 8,000-acre backyard by bike, raft, horseback or Segway. Browse unique shops and see how Biltmore's inspiration carries into today with our new Antler Hill Village. For a complete escape, treat yourself to our luxurious four-star inn. Open daily. Begin planning your Biltmore getaway today by calling 877-BILTMORE or online at Biltmore.com.

BLACK MOUNTAIN

With its proximity to Asheville, its small-town charm and the surrounding Blue Ridge Mountains, Black Mountain is a visitor's dream come true. Discover quaint B&Bs; country inns and hotels; antiques and furniture stores; crafts and art galleries; and charming restaurants, cafes and outdoor dining. Experience Lake Tomahawk: fish, picnic or stroll around the lake and watch evening primroses bloom at dusk. Get lost in another decade. The old hardware store and 1890s train depot are a step back to a simpler time – you may even catch a craftsman stringing a dulcimer. Come for a visit. We are just 15 miles east of Asheville on I-40, Exit 64. For more information about Black Mountain, call 800-207-8759 or visit ExploreBlackMountain.com.

Dear Friends,

Welcome to North Carolina! This year's North Carolina Travel Guide contains a wealth of information on the many unforgettable attractions that make our state a favorite year-round travel destination.

From interactive race-car experiences to some of the East Coast's best scuba diving, North Carolina offers a wide variety of activities for those who enjoy excitement. But the state also provides many opportunities to step back, take a breath of fresh air and relax at a quieter pace.

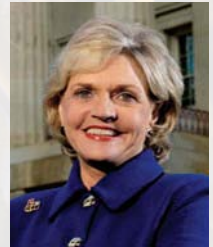

It's the simple pleasures that count – those that create lasting memories without costing a lot. Strolling along a scenic coastal waterfront, fly-fishing in a mountain stream or enjoying a concert under the stars are just a few of the ways to relax, step back from the hectic pace of everyday life and remember what truly matters.

As you travel the Tar Heel State, I encourage you to experience the best that we have to offer. You will come to discover what our proud citizens already know – that there is no better place to be.

Sincerely,

Gov. Bev Perdue

How To Use This Guide

This guidebook is divided into three sections. The first part is devoted to feature stories about special North Carolina experiences, ranging from a peek inside the new NASCAR Hall of Fame to an article about the state's expansive breweries.

The Free for All symbol FREE FOR ALL in the feature stories designates some of the attractions across the state that won't cost you one red cent, such as festivals, wine tastings and museums.

The next section details attractions, which are arranged by region and then alphabetically by city. Finally, you'll find a list of accommodations organized by region and then alphabetically by city.

A City Index appears on page 174. If you are looking for a certain attraction but aren't sure what city it is in, check the Attractions Index on page 170. For more detailed information on a particular area, a list of Local Information Sources can be found on page 166. State Information Sources are listed on page 169.

We appreciate the many businesses that support this guide with advertising. An Advertisers Index can be found on page 176.

All efforts have been made to ensure the accuracy of the listings. However, we suggest that you call before traveling to obtain operation times, admission prices and other details.

Have Pet, Will Travel

Fido and Fluffy need a break too, and guess what? They can come along for the ride because pet-friendly travel is easy in North Carolina.

Even at the opulent Biltmore in Asheville, dogs of all sizes are allowed on the grounds – although not in the buildings.

Many hotels across the state welcome the family dog or cat to come along on vacation. Pet-friendly hotels, parks, beaches and campgrounds are growing in number.

So pack up the pooch. Carry the kitty. And head for the Mountains, Piedmont or Coast.

Creating Quite a Splash

It's not hard to find a waterfall in North Carolina. But Transylvania County, in the western part of the state, boasts the most.

More than 250 of these cascading wonders are located here, which is why it's known as Land of the Waterfalls. Well, it's no wonder – the county has one of the highest average rainfalls in the United States.

Not only does Transylvania County have a number of waterfalls, but Whitewater Falls, near Sapphire, drops 441 feet, making it the highest waterfall in the eastern United States.

Let There Be Light

Lighthouses are an important part of North Carolina's nautical history and a popular stop for visitors.

The state's lighthouses stretch from Currituck to Bald Head Island, with five along the Outer Banks. Many of the landmarks are noteworthy for more than their beauty, though.

For example, Currituck Beach Lighthouse has approximately 1 million bricks. Bodie Island Lighthouse is lit by one 1,000-watt light bulb activated by a photocell. The concrete used to build Oak Island Lighthouse contained paint, so the structure never needs another coat. And the iconic Cape Hatteras Lighthouse is the tallest lighthouse in America.

Ready to tie the knot? Most lighthouses will let you marry there – with the proper permit, of course.

Gear Up

Bikers, rejoice. The scenic mountains of North Carolina offer breathtaking roads for riding.

Considered by many to be one of the best motorcycle roads in the world, the Tail of the Dragon has 318 curves in an 11-mile stretch along US Highway 129 that will challenge the most competent rider.

Other places to catch the wind include roads in the Blue Ridge Mountains and the Great Smoky Mountains, such as the Blue Ridge Parkway, Cherohala Skyway, Hellbender 28 near Fontana Lake and Diamondback through Little Switzerland.

Cultural Oasis

One of the largest powwows in the United States is staged in Hollister every April. The Haliwa-Saponi Indian Powwow, which began in 1965, attracts thousands of visitors and tribal representatives from across the country.

The history of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians is told at the Mountainside Theatre in Cherokee each summer. Since 1950, the outdoor drama Unto These Hills has attracted families looking for an enriching cultural experience.

Other worthwhile stops in Cherokee include the Qualla Arts & Crafts Mutual, which is one of the leading American Indian arts cooperatives, and the Oconaluftee Indian Village, where you can see live re-enactments, demonstrations and storytellers.

In the Piedmont, don't miss the Rankin Museum of American Heritage in Ellerbe, which has a unique American Indian artifact collection. And if you're on the Coast, check out the Frisco Native American Museum & Natural History Center, which boasts artifacts, exhibits and natural history displays.

Snow Wonder

If skiing, snowboarding, ice skating and even ice climbing are on your agenda this winter, head to the beautiful mountains of North Carolina.

Home to the East Coast's highest ski slopes and its biggest snow tubing park, the western Mountains offer a wide variety of activities for the whole family. Not to mention some incredible scenery.

More Info

Click here for more events, stories and videos, as well as "must-see" lists for all three regions.

Fall's in Fashion

Fall color – shades of red, orange, yellow, burgundy and even purple – moves down the Mountains to the Piedmont, with some of the higher mountain elevations peaking even before many northerly regions.

Leaf peepers can marvel at dogwoods, red maples, black gums and tulip poplars, followed by sourwoods, sweet gums, crepe myrtles and oaks.

Take a scenic drive, book a bed-and-breakfast or set up camp at a state park from late September to early November to enjoy autumn's patchwork of colors.

Check out visitnc.com for weekly fall color reports.

NORTH CAROLINA COMMEMORATES THE 150TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE CIVIL WAR

STORY BY LAURA HILL
PHOTOGRAPHY BY TODD BENNETT

Freedom. Sacrifice. Memory. Three themes will shape a vibrant, five-year-long lineup of programs, events, tours and historical re-creations marking the 150th anniversary of the Civil War. Whether you're planning a family beach vacation, a few days in the mountains or a tour of North Carolina's cultural sites, now is the perfect time to include a bit of history in your journey.

"The story of the Civil War in North Carolina is a richly and uniquely American story, with suspense, drama, intrigue and pathos," says Keith Hardison, director of North Carolina historic sites and head of the committee that has planned more than 125 special activities for the sesquicentennial.

African-Americans, American Indians, women, poor people, rich people, eastern and western North Carolinians – each had a particular perspective on the war, he says. "In North Carolina there were not just two sides to the story – there were many. Our goal is to tell all the stories for all the people."

As the last state to secede from the Union and the site of the largest troop surrender (at Bennett Place in Durham), North Carolina's role in the War Between the States looms especially large in the history books.

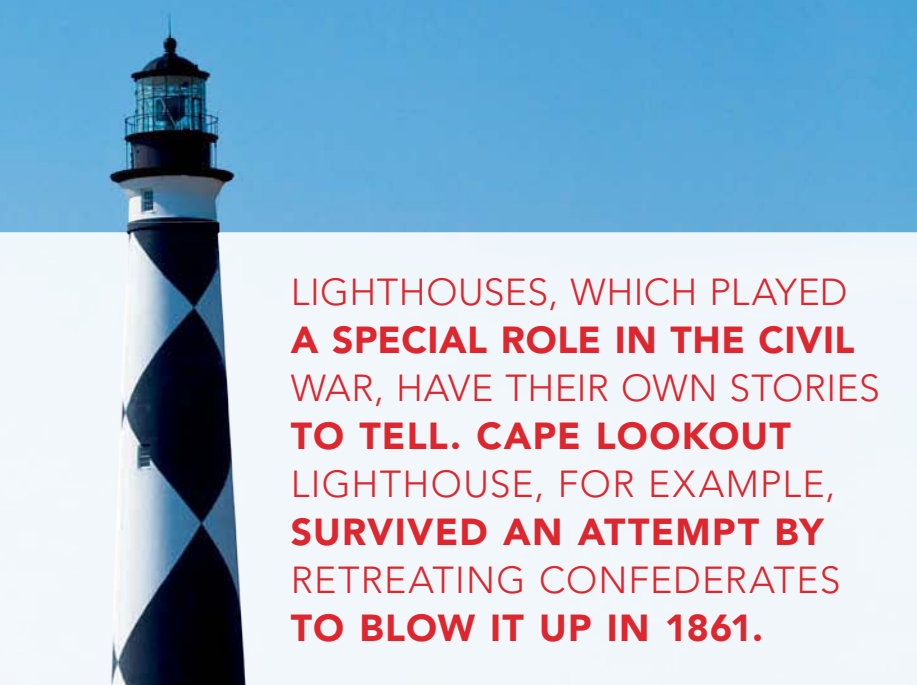

In April 2010, the 145th Anniversary Battle of Bentonville Civil War Re-enactment in Four Oaks drew an astonishing 50,000 attendees and 3,000 participants. Another re-enactment is planned for the battle's 150th anniversary.

No doubt, a wealth of fascinating tales will

Home of the Brave

North Carolina is one of the most military-friendly states in the country.

From Fort Bragg (Army) to Camp Lejeune (Marine Corps) to the Coast Guard Air Station in Elizabeth City to Pope and Seymour Johnson Air Force bases, military families play an important role in the Tar Heel State.

The sacrifices and triumphs of North Carolina-based military members are a source of pride for civilians as well, and there are many opportunities for visitors to learn about their contributions.

In Fayetteville, the Airborne & Special Operations Museum offers a variety of special exhibits and puts visitors into the thick of military action in a theater with motion-simulator seats.

At nearby Fort Bragg, you can experience the thrill of seeing troops make a live airborne jump at the Sicily Drop Zone or visit the U.S. Army Special Warfare School Museum.

Camp Lejeune's Beirut Memorial commemorates the tragic terrorist bombing of Marine headquarters in Lebanon in 1983, where many men were lost. At the Montford Point Marine Museum, the base also honors the first-ever African-American Marine recruits, who served in World War II.

In Wilmington, visit the Battleship North Carolina, one of the most-decorated ships of World War II, or the working Coast Guard cutter Diligence, which offers tours when docked. Stop by the Coast Guard complex in Elizabeth City, where the Museum of the Albemarle also boasts a special Coast Guard exhibit.

is transformed into a masterpiece*

STORY BY LAURA HILL
PHOTOGRAPHY BY TODD BENNETT

It's a gallery, filled with light and air. It's a garden, with native plants, places to stroll and nature-inspired art. It's a sculpture court, a triumph of green building, a nice place to linger over coffee with a friend. It is the long-awaited, transformed North Carolina Museum of Art, which has unveiled its multimillion-dollar expansion that was three years in the making – and it's a must-see destination for anyone visiting Raleigh.

Long before it opened, the NCMA was attracting attention from around the world for its innovative design by New York architects Thomas Phifer and Partners and the dramatically enhanced and enlarged collection that is on view in the new galleries. But the museum's own community was the most excited, and reopening day, April 24, 2010, drew thousands of museum-goers to the new 127,000-square-foot museum building.

"People are aware that this is an exceptional experience that belongs to them," says NCMA director Dr. Lawrence Wheeler, who proudly notes that admission to the publicly supported museum is always free. “People here have a great sense of pride about the museum. I think it is an energy center, not the staid, old-fashioned art museum experience. A place where everyone brings their own point of view to the experience, and that point of view is respected.”

The building has given the museum – one of the most respected in the South, even before the expansion – nearly twice as much exhibit space as it enjoyed in its earlier East Building. The new building contains 40 gallery spaces, a restaurant and a retail shop.

A rectangle clad in softly reflective aluminum panels, stainless steel and glass, it features four entrances, plazas, gardens and water features. By design, as the light changes through the day, the building seems to disappear into the natural, rolling landscape surrounding it. Oculi in the roof allow natural light to be easily adjusted to suit particular exhibits.

The open, airy design and abundant entrances allow visitors to wander in and out of the building freely, exploring their own path through the exhibits.

Among the gems: one of the largest collections of Rodin sculptures in the country. And joining the museum’s already impressive collection, new works of art by such modern giants as Ellsworth Kelly, Roxy Paine and Jaume Plensa.

A nationwide, traveling exhibit called Rembrandt Paintings in America: Collecting and Connoisseurship is scheduled to open in October 2011 and will feature some of the most notable works by the Dutchman. There are currently no Rembrandt originals on display in North Carolina, which makes this exhibit a coup for the museum.

"This is not a forced march through the history of art," Wheeler says. "It's an exhilarating experience in a beautiful place."

CHARLOTTE'S CANVAS OF ART OFFERINGS EXPANDS

Among Charlotte's numerous cultural attractions for visitors, museums are rapidly becoming one of the most popular.

The highly respected Mint Museum has long been a leading light, but recently the city's museum scene has bloomed.

The sleek, new 145,000-square-foot Mint Museum Uptown building opened in fall 2010 on the new Wells Fargo Cultural Campus in downtown Charlotte, vastly expanding space for its growing modern art and arts and crafts collections.

A jewel in the city's crown, the campus also boasts the spectacular new Bechtler Museum of Modern Art, the second of only two American buildings by the Swiss architect Mario Botta (the other is the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art).

With a warm, terra cotta-colored tile skin, the new boutique museum is dramatically contemporary, yet fanciful, designed as a "jewelry box," says museum director Pam Davis.

"When you're inside, unlike any other museum, there's a lot of visual interplay. You can see what's going on all the time, see outside, see the terrace. You always feel you're part of something."

The art collection was donated by Swiss-born Charlotte resident Andreas Bechtler and contains work by such artists as Picasso, Calder and Giacometti.

Nearby, the Harvey B. Gantt Center for African-American Arts + Culture, its striking design inspired by the story of Jacob's ladder, offers changing exhibits, anchored by the Hewitt Collection of important African-American art.

Want to explore the "art" of Mother Nature? Discovery Place has finished a nearly $32 million renovation, adding new science and technology exhibits, a large aquarium and a 3-D theater.

Something's BREWING in North Carolina

There's plenty to cheer about when it comes to beer

STORY BY JOE RADA

PHOTOGRAPHY BY TODD BENNETT & BRIAN McCORD

In North Carolina, you're never far from fresh local beer and folks who love to talk about ales, lagers, porters, stouts and whatever seasonal experiment the resident brewmaster has on tap.

The heady aroma of malted barley, bitter hops and fermenting yeast wafts from 21 brewpubs and 24 production breweries – more than any other Southern state – in big cities, coastal villages, mountain towns and rural communities. Their tantalizing variety and award-winning quality have earned the state an esteemed place in the world of craft brewing.

The online travel blog Gadling recently ranked Asheville, home to 10 breweries and several beer festivals, alongside Munich (Germany), Dublin (Ireland) and both Portlands (Maine and Oregon) as one of the “24 greatest cities in the world for drinking beer.” An international poll in 2010 crowned Asheville Beer City USA and a prime destination for beer aficionados. Asheville even boasts an informative Brews Cruise, which takes guests on guided tours to some of the city's microbreweries.

When you lift a pint to toast North Carolina's abundant breweries, you'll have plenty of interesting choices. Celebrate with Gaelic Ale from Highland Brewing Co. or Bohemian Pilsner from Lexington Avenue Brewery in Asheville. Tipple some Belgian-Style Strong Golden Ale from Triangle Brewing in Durham, Ruby Lager from Olde Hickory Brewery in Hickory or Corolla Gold Beer from Weeping Radish Farm Brewery in Jarvisburg.

Try a dark-as-night Jumpin' Bean Coffee Stout from Carolina Brewery in Chapel Hill, a thirst-quenching Ölsch Pale Ale from the wind-powered Outer Banks Brewing

Natty Greene's Pub & Brewing Co.

Station in Kill Devil Hills, an award-winning Southbound Stout from Boylan Bridge Brewpub in Raleigh, an organic Solstice Tripel from Pisgah Brewing Co. in Black Mountain or a fruity Endless River Kolsch-Style Ale from Mother Earth Brewing in Kinston.

Sebastian Wolfrum, a co-founder of the North Carolina Brewers Guild and director of brewing operations at Natty Greene's Pub & Brewing Co. in Greensboro (also located in Raleigh), anticipates there will be more than 50 breweries in the state soon and a growing reputation worldwide.

"North Carolina beers win awards regularly at the Great American Beer Festival in Colorado and at the World Beer Cup®," he says. "In the next few years, some beer styles will be defined by us."

Other North Carolina breweries making names for themselves include Natty Greene's (enjoy the Buckshot Amber Ale); Winston-Salem's Foothills Brewing (try the Pilot Mountain Pale Ale); Wilmington's Front Street Brewery (get a chocolaty Dram Tree Scottish Ale); Farmville's Duck-Rabbit Craft Brewery (don't miss the Milk Stout); and Durham's Fullsteam Brewery (whose Hogwash Hickory-Smoked Porter pairs well with hickory-smoked barbecue).

Fullsteam founder Sean Lilly Wilson, who led the group Pop the Cap in lobbying for laws allowing craft brewing in the state, sees a steadily expanding culture of handcrafted beer enthusiasts.

"People appreciate fresh, local, innovative brews," he says. "They get interested in what's on tap from week to week. That's what attracts them to brewpubs in the first place, and it's what keeps them coming back for more."

Filmmaking is big business in North Carolina

STORY BY JESSICA MOZO

If North Carolina had a Walk of Fame similar to Hollywood's, you'd find the names of movie moguls such as Julia Roberts, Patrick Swayze, Sissy Spacek and George Clooney embedded in it.

And chances are, it would be found in the coastal town of Wilmington, a popular filmmaking spot with 400-plus film projects to its credit. Wilmington is also home to EUE/Screen Gems Studios, the largest movie production facility east of Los Angeles and the home of hit television shows and movies including Matlock, Dawson's Creek, One Tree Hill, 28 Days and Firestarter.

"We are Hollywood East," says Bill Vassar, executive vice president of EUE/Screen Gems Studios. "The people and facilities here result in the same production quality as New York or Los Angeles at more affordable costs. And we do it with Southern charm."

Wilmington visitors can tour Screen Gems Studios on weekends and see actual working sets for current productions. The tour also includes a short film about Wilmington's film history.

"We even keep elements from past productions, such as the helicopter from Muppets in Space and Dawson's sailboat from Dawson's Creek," Vassar says.

As a whole, North Carolina ranks among the top states for U.S. film production. Over the past three decades, more than 800 films, 15 television series, and many documentaries and commercials have been made in the Tar Heel State.

While Wilmington serves as its filmmaking epicenter, North Carolina boasts many other filming hot spots such as Chimney Rock (The Last of the Mohicans), Great Smoky Mountains Railroad (The Fugitive), Lake Lure (Dirty Dancing), Biltmore (Patch Adams and Hannibal) and Charlotte Motor Speedway (Days of Thunder and Talladega Nights).

"The film industry contributes between $100 million and $200 million directly to North Carolina's economy every year," says Aaron Syrett, director of the North Carolina Film Office. "If you add all of the secondary impacts to that, it's hundreds of millions – revenue from restaurants, hotels and even the construction lumber to build sets.”

Movie buffs from around the globe trek to North Carolina towns large and small to see where their favorite movies and television shows were made.

One helpful resource is the Film Junkie's Guide to North Carolina, a travel book with information about film festivals, studios, celebrities with North Carolina connections and famous film stops.

The book's co-author, Connie Nelson, works for the Wilmington/Cape Fear Coast

Convention & Visitors Bureau and was inspired to write the book after fielding countless questions from visitors about the state's film locations, studio sets, and celebrity sightings and hangouts. Nelson also developed FAQ sheets for fans of Dawson's Creek and One Tree Hill after Wilmington's Visitor Information Center was inundated with visitors asking where to find filming locations for the shows.

More competitive film incentives continue to make North Carolina a bustling place for the industry.

Those incentives are one reason that One Tree Hill was picked up for its eighth season.

“North Carolina has a rich film heritage,” Syrett says. “We’ve been in this industry for more than 25 years, so we’ve built a solid infrastructure with an abundance of professionals. North Carolina can be Anywhere, USA. But, truth be told, since it is North Carolina, it’s still pretty special.”

Over the past three decades, more than 800 films, 15 television series, and many documentaries and commercials have been made in the Tar Heel State.

FILM FANS WON'T WANT TO MISS THIS LINEUP OF FESTIVALS

Brushing elbows with filmmakers is as easy as showing up at North Carolina's biggest film festivals.

"It's a community of people getting together to celebrate films, with lots of receptions and parties," says Aaron Syrett, director of the North Carolina Film Office. "The festivals are very open – not a closed society. You can mingle with filmmakers and talk about their processes. And there are always great restaurants and sites to visit nearby if you don't want to plan your whole trip around a festival."

Here's a sampling of some of the state's festive film gatherings:

FULL FRAME DOCUMENTARY FILM FESTIVAL

Durham, April
www.fullframefest.org

Considered one of the world's best documentary film festivals. Dedicated to the drama of nonfiction cinema, with screenings of more than 100 films, discussions and panels.

RIVERRUN INTERNATIONAL FILM FESTIVAL

Winston-Salem, April
www.riverrunfilm.com

Screenings and premieres of more than 120 films from 30-plus countries, as well as workshops and seminars on the craft of filmmaking.

CHARLOTTE FILM FESTIVAL

Charlotte, September
www.charlottefilmfestival.org

More than 90 filmmakers, with screenings of 200-plus films and documentaries, filmmaking discussion panels, workshops, video editing training sessions, after-parties and VIP filmmaker receptions.

CUCALORUS INDEPENDENT FILM FESTIVAL

Wilmington, November
www.cucalorus.org

LIVES ON

THE NASCAR HALL OF FAME HAS REVVED UP MOTORSPORTS IN CHARLOTTE

STORY BY DES KELLER
PHOTOGRAPHY BY TODD BENNETT

I'm strolling the curved, track-like concourse of the new NASCAR Hall of Fame in Charlotte, but it feels more like I'm viewing one of this country's finest collections of American art. Can high art be equipped with tachometers, roll cages and engines capable of thrusting a stock car to 200 mph?

The answer, provided at this new, 150,000-square-foot homage to the glory of racing, is a resounding "yes." I've scarcely made it through the expansive front entry, and I'm already transfixed on what is called Glory Road, a banked ramp leading to the second floor that displays more than 15 historic race cars along with plaques to commemorate 40 current and historic tracks.

Before me is Herb Thomas' sublime, pale-green 1952 Hudson Hornet – set low with gentle curves that provided enough aerodynamics to help Thomas win the 1951 and 1953 Grand National (now Sprint Cup) championships. Nearby is Bobby Isaac's imposing, orange 1970 Dodge Daytona with its huge spoiler on the back. This car won 11 NASCAR races that season, and Isaac went on to set 28 world speed records with the car.

Like a stock car track itself, Glory Road continues to bank even more steeply to give you an idea what a number of actual tracks would feel like to stand on. At one spot, the track slopes at a 33-degree angle – so much so that you can't stand upright without holding onto the rail.

Elsewhere, you can even get a look at NASCAR legend Junior Johnson's moonshine still. Stock-car racing was in its infancy during the Great Depression, when illegal liquor makers modified their cars so they'd be "faster than the speed of law." This eventually led to one of the nation's most popular sports.

While there is no moonshine-tasting display, you can get a feel for what it's like to work on a pit crew or actually drive a race car yourself. Realistic simulators allow you to attempt to raise a car with a jack, remove a tire and fuel up the tank – just like the big boys do. If my attempt at these tasks was passable, if a bit bumbling, my driving attempt in an actual race-car simulator was humbling.

Tucked in the cockpit of the beast, it took me no less than 12 seconds to spin out completely and hit the wall. Seems the accelerator and the tires are both a bit sensitive.

At every turn, there is even more to see.

Other features include the High Octane Theater, which provides a heart-pounding tribute to the sport; the Hall of Honor, where annual inductees to the Hall of Fame have their own displays; and the NASCAR Vault, where items such as trophies, fire suits, posters, illegal race-car parts, die-cast car collections, and pieces from the personal collections of drivers and their families are housed. There's even a replica of Red Vogt's Atlanta car shop – the legendary mechanic whose skills brought some of the sport's best cars to the track in the early years.

Louise Smith's racing helmet is also included in the collection. Smith, a moonshine runner of note, was asked in 1946 by promoter Bill France Sr. to enter one of his races. Smith promptly finished third against the boys and would eventually end her racing career with 38 victories in various NASCAR divisions.

And just like that early pioneer, NASCAR has always been ahead of its time.

Most of the best-known race teams are based within two hours of Charlotte, and many offer tours to the public. You can see mechanics working on the cars, feel the rumble of engines being tested and browse the teams' museums and gift shops. In all cases, call the headquarters to make sure the facility is open the day you want to visit.

The Charlotte Motor Speedway and zMAX Dragway, other must-see attractions for race fans, are located in nearby Concord. The track plays host to tours and other events year-round, in addition to premier Sprint Cup races in May and October.

STORY BY REBECCA DENTON

The late-afternoon sky glows orange on the waves at The Sanderling Resort and Spa, where a young couple admires the spectacular sunset from the restaurant's large windows.

In the spa, a woman enjoys an aromatherapy soak and sea stone massage, while grandparents entertain a toddler along the ocean's edge.

This Outer Banks retreat is just one of the state's many award-winning resort options. From beach hideaways and golf vacations to mountain hikes and fly-fishing excursions, North Carolina's diverse resorts and spas offer great getaways to fit most any budget.

In the state's Mountains region to the west, the 87-acre Chetola Resort at Blowing Rock is home to a new, luxurious spa that has become a main attraction.

"We're really family-friendly here, and we've incorporated that into our spa," says Robyn Lindenmuth, Chetola Resort's spa and recreation director. "We allow children to come to the spa with their parents, and we do child manicures and pedicures as well as massages. It's become very popular."

variety of adventure packages – from wing shooting and fly-fishing to whitewater rafting and rock climbing – and the Bob Timberlake Inn, an eight-room bed-and-breakfast that features artist Bob Timberlake's furniture, artwork and accessories.

Southwest of Blowing Rock is The Grove Park Inn Resort & Spa in Asheville, which offers magnificent views of the city's skyline tucked between the Blue Ridge and Great Smoky mountain ranges.

Irma Harris of Nashville has visited the resort with her husband and young son regularly for the past six years. They usually go in the fall, when foliage is at its peak and the inn's huge fireplaces are ablaze with roaring fires.

"The spa is awesome, and their staff is top-notch," she says. "The inn is quiet and peaceful – just very comfortable and historic. It's just a little retreat from everything."

Southwest of Asheville is the Old Edwards Inn and Spa in Highlands, which offers an outdoor heated mineral pool, a world-class spa, guided hikes, golf, fine dining and more.

In 2010, The Spa at Old Edwards

Inn was named the No. 1 Hotel Spa in North America in Condé Nast Traveler magazine's 20th Annual Readers Choice Survey.

In the state's Piedmont region, visitors will find plenty of places that pamper.

Historic Pinehurst Resort, for example, is home to eight pristine, world-class golf courses, as well as a 31,000-square-foot spa with services ranging from scrubs and wraps to aquatherapy.

The Umstead Hotel and Spa in Cary was recently named by Travel + Leisure magazine as one of its Top 500 Hotels in the World for 2010 and doles out services sure to restore the mind, body and spirit.

The award-winning Farrington House Country Inn and Restaurant – known for its fine dining, lodging and weddings – recently opened a spa featuring an Apothecary Garden with herbs and medicinal plants used to promote healing. The country inn anchors the vibrant center of Farrington Village, a community on a historic farm in Pittsboro that offers unique shops, restaurants and rolling pastures dotted with its famous grazing cows.

Where the Locals EAT

Get a taste of what makes
North Carolina special

STORY BY REBECCA DENTON

Local cuisine with character and a deep sense of tradition is an essential part of the North Carolina experience, from barbecue and fried chicken to fresh seafood and inventive, upscale Southern fare.

Michael Stern – a food writer, co-host of the website www.roadfood.com, and a weekly contributor to American Public Media's The Splendid Table – says North Carolina is an increasingly rare place, where an abundance of local, independently operated restaurants reflect area traditions.

“It’s just a great eating state with a tremendous amount of variety,” Stern says. “In addition to the sleeves-up fried chicken and barbecue, there are some really good fine-dining options as well. If you like to eat, North Carolina is a great place to be.”

Here’s a small sampling of the many delicious options available throughout the state. Have a great time making your own list!

MOUNTAINS

Hendersonville’s Square One Bistro works with a network of organic farmers to offer an array of small plates and house specials presented with thought, care and pride.

The Bluffs Lodge & Restaurant on the Blue Ridge Parkway in Laurel Springs is famous for its sweet potato pancakes, but it also serves excellent skillet-fried chicken, hot biscuits and juicy cobbles.

Don’t miss the Early Girl Eatery in downtown Asheville. This casual spot's eclectic Southern menu focuses on made-from-scratch fare, with many ingredients acquired from local farmers. Early Girl was named one of the state's top five breakfast joints by Southern Living magazine in 2010.

Come hungry and ready to socialize at the Dan'l Boone Inn in Boone, where big country meals – three meats and five vegetables along with hot biscuits, preserves and an icy beverage – are served family style.

PIEDMONT

Snappy Lunch diner in Mount Airy (the inspiration for Andy Griffith's Mayberry) is famous for its pork chop sandwich, a boneless loin chop dipped in sweet-milk batter and fried until golden crisp. Stern calls Snappy Lunch's pork chop sandwich "one of the great meals of the South."

Yancey House Restaurant in Yanceyville features an inventive menu that changes with the seasons. This elegant eatery won third place in the casual dining division of the 2010 Best Dish in North Carolina restaurant contest, which recognizes restaurants with local cuisine on their menus.

Four Square Restaurant in Durham is one of the region's premier fine-dining destinations, offering a menu that changes bimonthly to match the season's freshest products.

The Harvest Moon Grille in Charlotte is a gourmet food truck that serves fabulous fresh food made with locally grown ingredients from Grateful Growers Farm and other local farms and businesses.

Known as a "beefeater's haven," The Angus Barn is an upscale Raleigh landmark known for its steaks and prime rib and housed in a rustic barn.

Lucky 32 Southern Kitchen in Greensboro and Cary serves locally sourced, upscale Southern cuisine and earned a Wine Spectator Award of Excellence in 2009.

Since 1962, Wilber's Barbecue in Goldsboro has been serving up is known for barbecue, sweet potato fries, fried chicken, country-style steak and other Southern favorites.

Craving Italian? Check out Luigi's Italian Restaurant and Bar in Fayetteville. This family-owned eatery offers a wide variety of pasta, seafood, chicken and steaks, as well as Italian favorites such as eggplant Parmesan and chicken Marsala.

Skylight Inn in Ayden is considered one of the best barbecue joints in eastern North Carolina. Founded in 1947, this small destination has only one thing on the menu: pork sandwiches with slaw and cornbread.

Mama Dip's Kitchen is a landmark for great comfort food in Chapel Hill. Fried food – okra, chicken, green tomatoes and pork chops – along with sweet tea is on tap.

Dick's Hot Dog Stand, a full-service restaurant in Wilson, has served hot dogs and its original chili recipe since 1921.

Keaton's Barbecue in Statesville is a must-stop place, but it's not your typical barbecue-style eatery. The chicken is deep-fried, then immersed in Keaton's signature barbecue sauce, which creates a spectacular, sweet crust on the outside.

COAST

The recently revamped Dixie Grill in downtown Wilmington serves standard diner fare along with Southern-inspired dishes, including a fried green tomato BLT on Texas toast. This landmark was among Southern Living magazine's picks for the state's best breakfast spots in 2010.

The Fish Hook Grill on Harkers Island is a laid-back local favorite that serves fresh seafood, daily specials and homemade desserts.

Howard's Pub on Ocracoke Island is the island's only raw bar, and also dishes up fresh seafood, steaks, pizzas, burgers and sandwiches. It's so popular that people fly in on private planes to enjoy the casual atmosphere.

Bistro-by-the-Sea Restaurant in Morehead City specializes in fresh, seasonal seafood straight from Carteret County waters.

The Calabash Seafood Hut in Calabash is another local favorite. "Calabash-style" generally means fried food lightly battered, and this small, friendly spot offers shrimp, scallops, fish and clam chowder just right.

Sam & Omie's Restaurant in Nags Head exudes a barefoot and beachy atmosphere that attracts locals and visitors alike. The menu ranges from omelets and burgers to prime rib and seafood dinners.

'cue to hungry diners. There's also Brunswick stew, fried oysters and country ham on the menu.

In addition to steaks, Asheboro's Something Different offers choices such as crab cakes, lamb chops and stuffed salmon, as well as kabobs and pita sandwiches.

Visitors will find homemade Amish bread, fresh fried pies, canned fruits and vegetables, amazing desserts and tasty sandwiches at the Shiloh General Store & Bakery in Hamptonville.

Marvin's Fresh Farmhouse, a down-home spot with red-and-white checked tablecloths in Mount Pleasant, serves food made primarily from local farm ingredients. This popular place

America's Favorite Drive

The Blue Ridge Parkway is one of America's most visited national parks. A drive along the Parkway provides stunning vistas, as well as close-up looks at the natural and cultural history of the southern Appalachian Mountains. It is designed as a "drive awhile and stop awhile" experience, so be sure to allow enough time to explore.

The Parkway meanders for more than 250 miles through North Carolina, from the Virginia border to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park. Overlooks, picnic and camping facilities, trails, and wonderful cultural and natural areas beckon travelers to stop and enjoy the sights.

Locations are designated by Milepost (MP) numbers. The park information number at (828) 298-0398 or website at www.nps.gov/blri are the best sources for up-to-date information on special events, foliage and temporary closures due to weather conditions or construction.

The Blue Ridge Parkway Visitor Center is a great place to begin your journey. Located near Asheville, the center offers a large interactive map, tickets to nearby attractions and a short film for visitors.

MP 217: CUMBERLAND KNOB offers a delightful picnic area, restrooms and two trails. It's also where construction began on the Parkway back in 1935. Enjoy new wayside exhibits about Parkway history.

MP 241: BLUFF MOUNTAIN TRAIL, elevation 3,312 feet, parallels the motor road. A 1.4-mile section begins near the Bluff's camp store and ends in the picnic area.

MP 238: BRINEGAR CABIN offers access to Cedar Ridge and Bluff Mountain trails for a moderate hike. A wayside panel documents an Appalachian garden, and Brinegar Cabin has a real working loom.

MP 259: NORTHWEST TRADING POST features handmade crafts from local artists and traditional food items, including hams, pickles and relishes.

MP 272: JEFFRESS PARK PICNIC AREA provides a great place for a picnic and a moderate .6-mile (one way) hike to the Cascades.

MP 294: MOSES CONE MEMORIAL PARK offers a lot of activities. The Manor House has daily craft demonstrations from May through October. There are easy to moderate walks, and camping is available at nearby Price Park, MP 297.

MP 304: LINN COVE VIADUCT is perhaps the most recognized section of the Parkway. This design and engineering marvel skirts the side of Grandfather Mountain.

MP 316: LINVILLE FALLS PARKING AREA is best reached by a short spur road. Each of three trails reaches a different view of the upper and lower falls, where the water descends a total of 72 feet.

MP 331: MUSEUM OF NORTH CAROLINA MINERALS is open year-round, providing detailed exhibits about gems and minerals, many of which are mined in the area.

Regional Attractions

Appalachian National Scenic Trail, A.T. Conservancy Regional Office, c/o US Forest Service, PO Box 2750, (828) 254-3708. The Appalachian Trail winds 2,160 miles from Georgia to Maine, with 300 miles in North Carolina. It is a wilderness trail intended for foot travel only. Rustic shelters, with no services, are 8-12 miles apart. Numerous access points. www.appalachiantrail.org

Blue Ridge Parkway, 199 Hemphill Knob Rd., (828) 298-0398. The Parkway is a recreation-oriented scenic byway that connects the Great Smoky Mountains National Park in North Carolina with the Shenandoah National Park in Virginia. In North Carolina, the Parkway extends 252 miles with numerous scenic views. www.nps.gov/blri

French Broad River, (828) 258-6109. Perfect setting for river excursions running through Madison, Buncombe, Henderson and Transylvania counties. Scenic/peaceful canoeing, kayaking and tubing. Excellent water quality provides a home to a variety of wildlife and waterfowl, including ospreys, bald eagles, mink, muskrat, deer and even occasional bear.

Great Smoky Mountains National Park, Blue Ridge Pkwy. & US 441, (865) 436-1200. With 276,000 acres in North Carolina and 244,000 acres in Tennessee, the park is the largest protected land area east of the Rocky Mountains. This national treasure is world-renowned for the diversity of its plant and animal life and its preservation of the remnants of southern Appalachian culture and history. Designated as an International Biosphere Reserve and World Heritage Site. www.nps.gov/grsm

Nantahala National Forest, 90 Sloan Rd., Wayah Ranger District, (828) 524-6441. Encompasses more than a half-million acres of pristine woodlands. Elevations from a high of 5,800 feet to a low of 1,200 feet. The largest of the four national forests in North Carolina. The Nantahala River, a popular whitewater river, rushes through the forest. Enjoy a variety of camping, plus motor boating, bridle trails, fishing, nature/hiking trails, picnic areas and swimming. www.cs.unca.edu/nfsnc

New River, Wagoner Access Rd., (336) 982-2587. Renowned as the second-oldest river in the world, the New is a National and State Wild and Scenic River. North Carolina maintains three parks along the river, each a day's canoe ride apart for primitive riverside camping and picnicking. www.ncparks.gov/Visit/parks/neri/main.php

Overmountain Victory National Historic Trail, Old Hwy. 221/Linville Mountain Rd., (888) 233-6111. Follows the Revolutionary War route of Patriot militia men to the battle of Kings Mountain, South Carolina. Part of the National Trails System. While there are hiking segments, the primary public access is by car over the commemorative motor route. www.mcdowellnc.org

Pisgah National Forest, PO Box 2750, (828) 257-4200. Covering more than 500,000 acres, the forest features beautiful and rugged mountain scenery, and is home to some of the best recreational opportunities in eastern North America with hiking trails, picturesque lakes and streams, and a natural water slide at Sliding Rock.  Daniel Stowe Botanical Garden

for all Seasons!*

More than 110 acres of gardens, featuring 12 sparkling fountains,
a conservatory featuring orchids and tropical plants, abundant garden wildlife and a natural woodland trail help you reconnect with nature. Delight in colors, sounds and smells of nature, experience gardening like never before and enjoy spending time with friends and family.

Get Off The Highway!

Minutes from Charlotte and under an hour from Asheville, Uptown Shelby has that classic Southern courthouse square and historic charm without a sleepy-time atmosphere. We have great food, sidewalk dining under Live Oaks, and shopping. Uptown balances our musical heritage and preservation with trails and fitness. Uptown Shelby has been welcoming visitors for years.

Different:inspires

More than a thousand ships rest on the ocean's floor just off the Outer Banks. Lighthouses were built to serve as guides but became beacons of hope. Turns out they're also good at leading people to new experiences.

"IN HONOR OF MY 150TH BIRTHDAY,
I'M GOING TO LIGHT UP THE NIGHT!
OH WAIT, I DO THAT EVERY NIGHT."

— CAPE LOOKOUT LIGHTHOUSE

For 150 years the elegant Cape Lookout Lighthouse has surveyed the beautiful landscape on North Carolina's Crystal Coast. The Diamond Lady, as she is affectionately called, keeps an eye on the pristine beaches, the free-roaming wild Spanish horses and a vast ocean with an endless supply of game fish. Here on the Crystal Coast the stories are engaging and plentiful and just waiting for you to discover.

DISCOVER THE BEAUTY OF NC WINES

A tradition rooted deep in our common past is bearing fruit in the mountains, foothills and coastal plains of North Carolina. Nearly 100 wineries – each with its own distinct method, each with its authentic personality, each with its own story – invite you to their tastings. Meet these craftspeople at the source of their passion. Come walk the vineyards. Share the joy. Taste the wine and foods. Breathe in the countryside. And meld your own tradition with ours.
